

Are you ready for a creative exploration into new approaches to teaching and learning that can serve as a catalyst for positive change within your thinking and practice as educators?

NEW for 2022

Crossfields Institute
Level 7 Certificate in Philosophy and Practice of Integrative Education

Enrol Now

First intensive starts
19th August 2022

What will I learn?

This fully-online qualification introduces a range of integrative theories and approaches to education.

It was developed in response to the major social, environmental and technological changes that are being experienced globally, and the changing skills and competences that young people need.

As a response to these challenges, many educators are now experimenting with new approaches to teaching and learning with the aim of nurturing capacities such as creative thinking, empathy, resilience and resourcefulness.

Who should apply?

- School leaders
- Teachers
- Curriculum designers
- Those thinking of a career in teaching
- Home school practitioners

Entry requirements

Participants need to hold an undergraduate (bachelors) degree, or equivalent level qualification. Where the qualification is delivered in English proof of spoken and written English at a level equivalent to IELTS 6 will be required.

Feedback from participants:

“ The PPIE gave me a better understanding of how to attain, sustain and access creativity in upper school students. It gave me better confidence in my professionalism even though I am an experienced teacher. ”

Alistair, teacher, Scotland

“ Without a doubt a course that inspires and motivates. The range of teachers and topics has been outstanding. The way that theory, practice and exercises have complemented each other has also been exemplary. ”

Jens, School leader, Denmark

“ The course gave me confidence in my role as a teacher. ”

Eva, teacher, Finland

“ The Course encourages us to support students to embrace and engage in the world we live in. ”

Hester, teacher, UK
